

The Day covers the war aboard the USS Providence

OUR BOAT. Follow the mission of the USS Providence, Los Angeles Class nuclear submarine, based in Groton, on duty in the Red Sea. Built by southeastern Connecticut workers at Electric Boat, we can all be proud of "our boat."

OUR BOYS.

Day reporter Robert Hamilton and Day photographer Tim Cook are working aboard the Providence, and will be sending regular reports to our homeport readers and the nation through the Associated Press.

OUR DUTY.

We're proud to be chosen by the United States Navy as the only journalists embedded aboard a submarine. Not since World War II have reporters been allowed to work aboard a U.S. sub during wartime.

And we're honored to meet the challenge of bringing news of the men aboard the Providence to their families, friends, and to the readers of The Day.

The Day
Your news. Your way. Your Day.
